

Head of Family Exemption

I hereby certify that I am a resident of New Mexico as of January 1st of this year, and the "head of family" as that term is defined in Section 7-37-4 of the Property Tax Code, and I hereby claim the exemption as allowed by law of the taxable value of the property provided by Section 7-34-4 of the Property Tax Code. I swear and affirm that the above information is true and correct and that this exemption is not being claimed in any other county.

Residential Property is either a home, manufactured home or apartment(s) and the land underlying the structure(s) is suitable for human habitation. That portion of the above description of property which meets the definition is eligible for the classification of Residential Property.
